IF CHICAGO WANTS HEALTHY MEN BOYS MUST PLAY AND HAVE FUN

*Council Should Consider the Boys Who Work and Are Changing From Boyhood to Manhood—Editor
Cochran Makes Some Suggestions As To How It Can Be Done.*

BY N. D. COCHRAN.

The quick response of public officials to Eddie O'Connor's demand for playgrounds for working boys shows that these men have not forgotten their boyhood days and that they understand what is back of that appeal for more play and more fun.

We have made a start toward playgrounds for children, and a good start. The immediate need, however, is for more attention to the physical needs of working boys who are passing through that changing period when the boy is becoming a man.

The kind of man he is going to be depends largely upon how the natural demand for recreation, or play, is met by parents and those charged with responsibility of training boys for useful manhood.

Health is a prime requisite. The body needs wholesome exercise be-
